

How IoT in education is redefining learning and increasing student engagement

IoT in education is a fast-growing market providing opportunities for technology innovation and academic achievement